

Modeling and Analysis of flows of concentrated suspensions

ABSTRACT:

We discuss a two-phase model for concentrated suspensions with yield-stress behaviour. We establish a PDE formulation in terms of a gradient structure, featuring dissipative coupling terms between fluid and solid phase as well as different driving forces. Mathematical challenges of this model are discussed. A suitable weak formulation and an existence result is presented for a simplified variant of the model.